GAME Trenchless Consultants Expands West

GAME Trenchless Consultants is growing and increasing its presence on the West Coast by adding Don Brynildsen, P.ENG., to the team.

Don has been involved in Municipal Engineering Infrastructure since the late 1970's. In addition to his most recent position as Director of Water and Sewers for the City of Vancouver, he also served as Director of the City's Roads and Bridges and Major Projects Divisions. Don was a member of the National Infrastructure Technical Steering Committee that oversaw the creation and review of all of the Infraguide Best Practices for Water, Sewer and Roads. With Don's experience in municipal infrastructure, GAME Trenchless Consultants' newest member will allow GAME to be present and provide its watermain condition assessment and Trenchless Engineering expertise in British Columbia and Alberta.
